ALAKOKO (MENEHUNE FISHPOND) - Architectural Discussion

Discussion by an Architect on the cultural and environmental stewardship of the Alakoko (Menehune Fishpond). Menehune Fishpond is located just above the Nawiliwili Harbor. Alakoko (Menehune Fishpond) got its name from the legend that a small race of people known as Menehune built these ponds 1,000 years ago. The ponds which create a dam across a portion of the Huleia River was used to trap fish to feed the ali'i (Hawaiian royalty). Large stones were used to create walls 900 feet across and five feet high. Legend says the ponds were completed overnight.

KILOHANA PLANTATION RAILWAY – Train Ride

Built in the 1930's, Kilohana Plantation is a historic landmark and premier visitor attraction offering visitors and locals a glimpse into Kauai's past combined with assorted island-style activities, dining, and shopping. Ride on the Kauai Plantation Railway, winding its way through the plantation's working farms and orchards. Learn about Kauai's history, enjoy the beautiful views and stop to feed the pigs! Take the afternoon to stroll the grounds and explore the 16,000 sq. foot plantation home. Stop in at Koloa Rum Co. for a rum tasting or for a full "Rum & Dining Experience." Visit the various artisan shops located around the grounds and both upstairs and downstairs in the Kilohana home.
